Short Answer Questions (responses can be bulleted or in paragraph format)

1. What are your other involvements in the Psychology department and across campus?
2. Being a peer advisor offers an opportunity to practice your public speaking presentation skills. Are you comfortable presenting information about psychology and your experiences in the department to a larger audience at events? Have you ever had experience with public speaking?
3. Have you ever visited the Peer Advising Office? If so, how was that experience? If not, how do you think you could use the Peer Advising Office as a resource in the future?
4. What do you hope to get out of being a peer advisor?

Please come into the peer advising office to drop off this application.
